

Our Values and Ethos

We believe children at Crofton Hammond Infant School learn best when...

- ❖ They feel happy, safe and secure
- ❖ Their learning is personalised by adults who know them well
- ❖ The curriculum is meaningful and engaging
- ❖ The direction of the learning is led by the children and based on their own interests
- ❖ They have opportunities to develop their own strengths and interests and these are valued
- ❖ The environment and resources are stimulating and of a high quality
- ❖ The adults around them recognise when something is wrong
- ❖ They are given appropriate challenge and encouraged to take risks
- ❖ They have opportunities to collaborate, question and share ideas with each other and adults
- ❖ They have opportunities to play, explore and consolidate learning – inside and outside
- ❖ They are not frightened to make mistakes and have a growth mind-set
- ❖ Teaching is of the highest quality
- ❖ They receive relevant and effective feedback
- ❖ Their effort is rewarded with praise and encouragement
- ❖ They know what they are aspiring to through modelled examples
- ❖ They love coming to school!
