

Week beginning 3rd February 2020

English

- This week we started our work on the Hampshire Picture Book awards 2020. We have been given four books to read and review and then vote for our favourite. The first book is called What do you do if your house is a zoo? The children discussed what they liked/disliked about the book.
- The children then secretly chose a pet they would like to have and drew a picture of it in their books. They then had to come up with some questions they could ask their friends to find out which pet they had chosen. Does it have fur? Has it got four legs? Is it a carnivore?

Maths

- This week in maths we have been looking at fractions.
- We started by recapping what we know about half.
- We then moved on to finding a quarter. We looked at what a quarter of a shape looks like.
- We then looked at how we find quarter of a number.

Phonics

- This week's spelling words are Monday Tuesday Wednesday Thursday Friday Saturday and Sunday.
- We have been looking at our split vowel digraphs this week. These are a-e e-e i-e o-e and u-e

Marwell Zoo

This week we had our school trip to Marwell zoo. The children had great fun exploring the zoo and learning more about the animals. They took part in an activity where they got to stroke some real animals and then sort some skins, skeletons and pictures of animals into categories.

Art

- In art the children have participated in different ways of printing.
