

Dear Parents

As you will probably be aware, on Friday the Government announced that the isolation period has been reduced from 14 days to 10 days. This will apply to all those who are currently self-isolating including those who commenced self-isolation before today. Self-isolation periods will begin on the day after exposure, the day a positive test result is received or the start of symptoms. From today the NHS Test and Trace service will be telling people to self-isolate for 10 days instead of 14 days.

The new guidance applies retrospectively so if a member of your family is currently isolating they will be able to return sooner than previously agreed. If you have any questions please do call us at school for clarification.

Best wishes

Jacky Halton

Headteacher